

Crow's Nest Natural Area Preserve
Fall Field Day
Saturday, November 7, 2009

The Virginia Department of Conservation and Recreation and Stafford County invite you to join in a month-long celebration of Virginia's Natural Area Preserve System. This field day is one of several events being held statewide in October and November 2009 to honor Virginia's most significant natural places. The state preserve system protects some of the best examples of natural communities and rarest plants and animals in Virginia. There are now 59 dedicated natural area preserves totaling 49,531 acres protecting 356 unique, significant natural communities and rare plant and animal species.

9:30 a.m. and 1:00 PM - Guided hike and natural history interpretation
by DCR Natural Heritage and Stafford County staff

12:00 noon, Commemorative plaque unveiling

Space is limited.

Please RSVP prior to Wednesday, November 4th
by calling DCR's Faye McKinney at (804) 786-7951
to secure a reservation and receive directions to the preserve.

This is an outdoor event. Casual clothes and comfortable shoes are recommended.
